CARS TO HANDLE TRAFFIC Washington, D. C., Dec. 5.—The in-terstate commerce commission holds hat each interstate railroad is charged with the duty of furnishing cars for the transportation conducted over its line, dute irrespective of any contract one railroad may have entered into with another providing for a joint supply of lare.

The decision concerns the rules governing the distribution of coal cars in times of car shortage by the Colorado & Southern, the Denver & Rio Grande and the Colorado & Southeastern. The commission holds that the contract, as to car distribution, between the first and last of these lines, caused under discrimination among used undue discrimination amor ippers and therefore was unlawful.
